Our presentation was very well received and generated a lot of interest in using scavenger hunt-like activities for orientations. We had well over 50 people attend, with 43 completing conference evaluations for our presentation. We received mostly "4s" and "5s," indicating that most people found our presentation to be excellent. Many commented on our creativity. I answered four emails asking for more information about our process from people that attended the presentation within the first week after returning from LOEX.
